The new hand and finger function test measures five separate functions of the hand and requires 6 months for full maturation of data. The results of an examination of 92 hands were subjected to analysis using the new technique. Maturation was seen in all parameters and reproducibility was satisfactory. There was a direct correlation between the progress of each of the five functional parameters and the age of the subject. It was concluded that the new technique enabled reliable and reproducible measurements to be made and could be a valuable tool in the diagnosis and monitoring of hand and finger function. A web-based social network, or social web, is a web-based application that encourages users to build and interact with each other within the web-based application. For example, a user may be provided with a set of friends to interact with and/or other users that the user wants to follow. As another example, a user may be provided with a set of news headlines that the user wants to read. Generally, a user of a social web interacts with other users by sending messages (e.g., "posting", "sharing", "shooting", "writing", "casting", "searching", "uploading")
