I am accessing this static property in other class's methods like this: public void setImage(Bitmap bitmap) { //I am accessing static property of an imageResizer object from here } Problem is, when I try to set image property, I receive a null pointer exception. I have implemented a constructor for ImageResizer class and a constructor for the class calling the setImage() method. I am returning an ImageResizer object in the constructor of the class calling the method and it is also working correctly. See below code class ImageResizer { public static Bitmap resizeImage(Bitmap bitmap, int maxWidth, int maxHeight) { int newWidth = (int) (bitmap.getWidth() * (100.0 / 100.0)); int newHeight = (int) (bitmap.getHeight() * (100.0 / 100.0)); Image.scaleImage(bitmap, newWidth, newHeight, maxWidth, maxHeight); return image; } public static Bitmap resizeImage(int maxWidth, int maxHeight) { int newWidth = (int) (bitmap.getWidth() * (100.0 / 100.0)); int newHeight = (int) (bitmap.getHeight() * (100.0 / 100.0)); return Image.scaleImage(bitmap, newWidth, newHeight, 3da54e8ca3
