It's You vs. Them in an ultimate game of technique and strategy. You'll be equipped with a standard shotgun while your opponent will wield a chainsaw and a very large candy bar. You'll also need to dodge both barrels while picking off flying candy wrappers and shoving pillows in the face of your opponents. Once the shotgun is empty, it's you versus a monster made out of M&Ms and Mounds. That's right, a MONDAY M&M MONSTER (I made that up, but it sounds pretty awesome). Also there will be a lot of candy, so you might want to use those odds to your advantage. Demons with Shotguns will be a local multiplayer brawler inspired by classic games like Doom, Quake and Duke Nukem 3D, with a carefully curated selection of modern weapons and hilarious characters. Jump into local multiplayer for up to four players in four game modes: Standard, Deathmatch, Capture the Candy Bar, and Truth or Candy, where you fight one another to determine which is more delicious! Test your skills in local multiplayer and discover both the strategic and chaotic sides of this original co-op competitive shooter. IronSmith Simulator is a game about a robot that helps you be a successful entrepreneur. This game is meant to offer you a toolbox of tips, tricks and ideas so you can start your own awesome company and become the CEO of your dream company or corporation. The game is a fun (and funny) journey, all you have to do is click on the menu and step into your CEO mech and everything will happen with you as the avatar of the game. During the game you will build and sell your robot, invent new products and apply all the technologies you will be exposed to. You can progress through the game by finding new technologies that will open up new opportunities and new products to sell as well as discovering the secrets of the industry. You will get to build the robots in the market and start the business. Choose from different robot models that will let you start off by building just a simple robot or an all inclusive robot with all the features of the latest advancement. The model you choose will dictate the way you earn money in your company and the skills you will be exposed to. At the end you will be awarded with a trophy that will mark your achievement and open up all the secrets of the business. The main industries present in the world of Iron Smith simulator are electronics, robotics, auto, construction and fashion. Just think about the most important ones and you will have an overview of the industries this game has to offer. The 3 main industries in the game are Robotics, Electronics and Auto. You will be exposed to all of the industries, but Robotics and Electronics has the most numbers as well as the greatest variety of products. The construction industry has around 60 different objects which you can use in your business. You will be exposed to all of these 3 industries at the beginning of the game as well as at the beginning of each level. All of these industries have their own specialists, traders, technologies and more that can be learned by you. The game itself doesn't have any limits, you can become an aerospace or space entrepreneur, a solar energy inventor, a medical research and development or a nutrition research and development, there are limitless opportunities. The game has 3 available companies, all named after historical figures (Elon Musk, Elon the robot and Elon the salesman). All of them have 3 main elements, the main one being a robot, the electronics that help you build robots and a director that is your mentor and best friend. In the game you will have 3 available upgrades, the first one is your energy supply, the second one is your c9d1549cdd
